

Why invest in coaching from someone outside your district or school?

- Safety: A coach from outside of the district creates a feeling of safety and opens doors for conversation.
- Time: Creating avenues for educators to seek support during times that make most sense for them, allows them to engage without feeling like they need to sacrifice planning time.
- Experience: Our coaches are experienced educators and trained to support each coachees in their unique professional challenges.
- Cost-savings: You only pay for the coaching that is actually utilized by your educators, and we commit to being a financial partner with you.

The Educator Wellness Coaching Program:

The Personal Wellness Inventory is a 38 question assessment intended to measure the wellbeing—emotional, mental, and social—of an educator. Educators whose scores are in the concerning range are invited to a coaching relationship.

All of our coaching is confidential and flexible. Educators are able to choose coaching formats that work best for their schedules. All of our coaches are either current or former educators, so they understand the world of education.

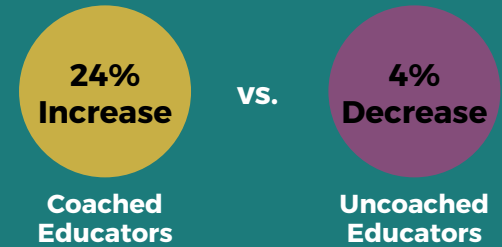

Our coaches are led through an initial 2-day training that introduces them to Opportunity Thrive's Transformational Wellness model for coaching. Our coaches participate in monthly cohorts where they continuously learn and receive support.

Our Coaching Focus:

Desire to continue in the profession:

It was a great support to help get through the tough spots, to realize where I was most overwhelmed to bounce ideas off someone else who 'gets' it but also wasn't inside my school. The year still was awful but it gave me support to get through it without going nearly as far down every time there was another drop in energy/emotion/etc.
